

Statement

I arrange with a conversation in mind. Best thriving when arranging intimate thoughts brought together in conversation. Conversations with an individual work or a series, are fluid. There is a beginning, an awakening, a fresh conversation with subsequent encounters. There is knowledge encountered and discarded. This constant rearrangement, for all invested, suggests unending perspectives for consideration.

Sam Still